

Ms. Deepa R, Director, Aieraa Overseas

While there are 542 medical colleges in India recognized by the Medical Council of India, this number is quite low if compared to the number of medical aspirants in the country. Also, there is a need for more professional Doctors in India to meet the needs of the Indian population.

Other than Indian Medical Institutes, medical aspirants from India have been going to complete their MBBS, to Russia, Philippines, Ukraine, Kazakhstan, Nepal, Bangladesh & China. Vietnam thus becomes an affordable destination for their medical studies as the cost of living is comparatively inexpensive.

H.E. Mr. Pham Sanh Chau, Vietnam Ambassador

This is a first joint initiative in Indo-Vietnamese Education. And with direct flights from Chennai to Ho Chi Minh city and also cultural, food and demographic similarities between Vietnam and India, Indian students will find it like a second home. I will also take this as a personal endeavor and help each student individually for anything that they may require.

Dr. Madan Mohan Sethi, Consulate General of India

This is an important development in the relationship between the two countries that students from India will be visiting Vietnam to study at Hong Bang International University. Every year hundreds of Indian students visit countries like China, Russia and Ukraine to learn medicine. But, having been residing in Ho Chi Minh city for the last ten months, I have to say this is truly a safe and secure international study destination for students from various countries. The country is located close to India, at just a 4-hour flight trip and hosts a sizeable Indian diaspora. In what I have seen over the last few months, the country's health infrastructure has been excellent with trained doctors and other health personnel. We believe this collaboration will further the millennia-old relationship between the two countries.

VIET NAM

Vietnam is a beautiful country located in the South East Asia, best-known for the mysterious beauties of its nature and the hospitality of its people. With a coastline of over 3,000 km and many untouched jungles in a tropical climate, Vietnam is a paradise for those who love adventures and outdoors activities. It is also a country of rich cultural values, situated right at the crossroads of many East and South Asian cultures, including those of Vietnam, China, Japan, Champa, Khmer, and India.

DA NANG

As much as people know that Da Nang is the third biggest city in Vietnam or the biggest city in Central Vietnam, few people know about the meaning of the name or the origin of the city. The region of Da Nang was originally the city of Indrapura, Capital of the Champa Kingdom, and the word "Da Nang" actually came from the Cham word of "Da Nak", which means "mouth of a large river". The Champa Kingdom was a mighty Hindi kingdom in present-day Central Vietnam from the 2nd century till the 15th century before it was conquered and annexed by the Vietnamese coming down from the north between the 10th and 19th century.
